Governor inaugurates DIET building

Government can provide buildings, facilities and resources, the real transformation of education ultimately depends on the quality, dedication and commitment of teachers: Governor

Investment in teacher education is, therefore, a direct investment in the future of Arunachal Pradesh: Governor

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh, Lt Gen KT Parnaik, PVSM, UYSM, YSM (Retd.), inaugurated the District Institute of Education and Training (DIET) building at Piyong in Namsai district on 15 November 2026. Constructed by the District Urban Development Department, Namsai, at a cost of ₹575.65 lakh, the project comprises an academic-cum-administrative building, hostels for trainees and residential quarters for teachers.

Speaking on the occasion, the Governor said that the establishment of DIET at Piyong marks an important step towards strengthening the institutional framework for teacher education in Arunachal Pradesh. He emphasized that the newly created infrastructure must become a lasting asset, serving generations of teachers and students. He expressed hope that the institute would provide a conducive environment for learning, interaction, research and professional exchange.

The Governor said that education is the most powerful instrument for shaping individuals, strengthening society and building a progressive nation. This requires committed, competent and inspiring teachers, who are educators and also nation-builders and architects of the future. He said that investment in teacher education is, therefore, a direct investment in the future of Arunachal Pradesh.

The Governor said that while the Government can provide buildings, facilities and resources, the real transformation of education ultimately depends on the quality, dedication and commitment of teachers. He urged the faculty and staff of DIET to discharge their responsibilities with professionalism, sincerity and a spirit of innovation.

Referring to the National Education Policy 2020, the Governor said that it places strong emphasis on continuous professional development of teachers, competency-based learning and the holistic development of children. He stressed that these objectives can be realized only when teachers are adequately trained, motivated and supported.

The Governor called for establishment of a DIET in every district to strengthen teacher training at the grassroots level and ensure quality education across the State. He said that such institutions would contribute significantly to the Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi's vision of Viksit Bharat@2047.

The Governor emphasized that the education system of Arunachal Pradesh must nurture educated, disciplined and motivated citizens. He said that good citizens form the foundation of responsible leadership and a strong society.

Deputy Chief Minister Shri Chowna Mein, local MLA Shri Chau Zingnu Namchoom and Deputy Commissioner, Namsai, Shri Lobsang Tsering also addressed the gathering. They expressed confidence that the new institution would strengthen teacher education and contribute to improving the overall quality of education in the district.

Earlier, the Director, State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT), briefed the gathering on the status of DIETs in the State and informed that Arunachal Pradesh presently has 12 such institutions.
