PRESS RELEASE SL No- 773

Modernize but always root to your culture and traditions; Governor to youth

ITANAGAR, August 10: Modernize but always root to your culture and traditions, said Arunachal Pradesh Governor General (Retd) JJ Singh while gracing the concluding function of the 4th North East Cultural Festival as chief guest at Naharlagun on 9th August 2012. Organized by All Arunachal Pradesh Student Union and North East Student Organization, youth from seven States of North East region are participating in the four-day festival, reports PRO to Governor.

Advising the participating youth from seven States of the north east region, Governor highlighted the importance of one's culture and identity. The Governor, who along with State First Lady Anupama Singh, as always, turned up indigenous attires, also spoke on rich traditions and indigenous attires of the tribal people.

The Governor, who had served his initial part of his service life in North East, dwelled in length on the enormous scope for development of tourism, horticulture and organic farming in the region and employment opportunities these sections will generate. Live life fully but also work hard, he appealed to them.

Not missing an opportunity to express his concern for the protection of the pristine environment of the region, the Governor urged upon the participating youth from seven States of North East to preserve flora and fauna.
